DEPT. OF "PSYCHO" ANALYZING ROBT. BLOCH

I am a 15-year-old high school student and have been reading FM almost 5 years. I have no right to claim to know a tenth of what Mr. Bloch does about horror films but wish if I may to give my candid opinions on his "Clown at Midnight." First of all, if I figure it right, Mr. Bloch was 19 years of age when FRANKENSTEIN came to the screen. Wasn't he a little bit old to have images of the Monster gibbering just beyond his mantlepiece? If his entire article had been based completely on the premise that the monster movies of yesteryear were morbid and today have become unintentionally funny, I would have stopped reading right there; but it wasn't. There is no doubt in my mind that, for their time, FRANKENSTEIN and THE MUMMY were thrilling motion pictures. But if Mr. Bloch were to witness the same films today side by side with the 1958 Hammer production of HORROR OF DRACULA, I am almost positive he would consider the latter the most thrilling and horrifying of them all. That is, unless he's sentimental. I have a strange feeling that he is trying to call FRANKENSTEIN and THE MUMMY morbid yet did he not distinctly say in "Menace, Anyone?" (FM No. 10) that he considered FRANKENSTEIN a "horror fantasy" film? That doesn't make it, as my dictionary defines it, "mentally unwholesome." FREAKS, I would say from the reviews I read, is entirely a morbid picture. I give my highest praise to Mr. Bloch for his excellent description of horror and the great films of the Ghoulden Era but take issue with him when he starts running down the "pillow-head" who decided to mix comedy with horror. As FM letter writer Bob Hefner once put it, "Everyone needs to be able to laff at his fears." To return to FREAKS: I have a feeling Mr. Bloch is deeply in love with this picture. I've never seen it and I don't think I would ever care to. Morbid pictures don't frighten at all, they just make me sick to my stomach. There's a difference, you know! "The censors who were not happy with the 'morbidity' of FREAKS were singularly undisturbed when walls of fire toppled upon helpless thousands in WAR OF THE WORLDS." Walls of fire toppled on helpless thousands in THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII, too, but I wouldn't call that a horrifying picture. Freaks are not imaginary as are vampires, werewolves, monsters, etc. Most of us realize that the malformed are real. Some people are born misshapen, others become that way by accident or in war. Why degrade, as he described them, the "dwarfed, armless and legless" with such a picture? In my mind censors play a very important role. Sure, many times they err as in the FRANKENSTEIN case, but they try to do their best. I agree with the censors on many points where Mr. Bloch disagrees. As Mr. Bloch put it, "Horror is something peculiar to the individual." Mr. Bloch does, in my mind, know the difference between good and bad horror. Everyone knows his own fears but they are more or less the same. When I was about 3 years old clowns always frightened me. I wondered why until I read Mr. Bloch's quote from the great Lon Chaney:

● The above letter from ROGER SALERNO, Jackson Heights, NY, should draw some reaction from Blochophiles.

MARSHANS FOR BLOCH

I am hoping you will print this because I want the world to know I am proud to know ROBERT BLOCH. My parents were good friends of his and have personally autographed copies of many of his books. I, and the citizens of Weyauwega, are very very proud of Bob Bloch. His talent was well known in town, he was very well liked, everyone thot him the greatest and was sad to see him go. But when he does something successful no people except his family are prouder than we. So, down with those who don't like Bob. We respect their opinions, but we know Bob; and I for one wish all FM readers knew him as we do: as great a guy as he is an author.

of Bob Bloch leaving town by rail? Also, is there any truth to the rumor that shortly after Rabid Robert left Weyauwega, the Cabinet of Caligari was discovered missing? Seriously, I'm sure thousands of FM readers wish indeed they did have the opportunity to know Robert Bloch personally. He is one of the sweetest guys I know outside the sugar industry. Wasn't his Thriller tele-chiller, "The Weird Tailor," superb? By the way, why don't you Pitts get together with the Pendulums and really swing?—FJA.

BLOCHOPHOBE

Bloch may be an expert on straight horror and straight science fiction but outside of that he doesn't know a thing. Great pictures like THE FIRST MAN INTO SPACE or MONSTER THAT CHALLENGED THE WORLD Bloch would probably sneer at but in certain respects you'll have to admit they were good. In all truth Wendayne Wahrman is far better in the field of present day films than Robert Bloch.

● I haven't checked this out thoroughly but I get the impression from the number of times I see the name David Studworthy signed to a letter that crosses my desk that Dave writes FM, SM or SCREEN THRILLS every day of his life! —FJA.

PERSONALS

● MICHAEL WOOD (age 14) of 914 Barretts Rd., Kings Norton, Birmingham 30, England, would like an American boy penpal. ● MIKE McWILLIS of 3448 Pemberton, Dallas, Texas, announces he has copies of the paperback pocketbook on which THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING MAN was based for sale for 75c apiece. ● A mint copy of "Frankenstein" and "The Time Machine" plus 200 monster pix all for $3 on a first come first served basis from RONALD HIBBARD, Murdock Rd., Medina, NY.

SUSPICIOUS SZUREK

When I read in your No. 18 editorial that it was a perfect issue it made me kind of suspicious. I figured it might be an issue with intentional mistakes so I kept my eyes open for same. I think I was right as I found at least 17 (and we only made 2 on purpose!). 1—The foto on p. 18 was from MAN MADE MONSTER not MAD DOCTOR OF MARKET STREET. 2—MANBEAST was made in 1956 not '55. 3—Michael Landon was the teenage werewolf not Gary Conway. 4—On p. 16 you spelled "whom" as "wohm." 5—On the editorial page FJA signed his name Forrrest K. Akermann. 6—Ib Melchior's name on p. 3 was spelled differently when mentioned twice. 7—On the inside front cover the editor & publisher were James Ackerman & Forrest J. Warren. 8—On p. 36 "nightmare" was misspelled. 9—In the make-up contest you said Danny Blake was a Martian but he was the Frankenstein monster. 10—Donald Wolfit wasn't in BLOOD OF DRACULA, you meant BLOOD OF THE VAMPIRE. 11—On p. 6 you spelled Midwitch incorrectly. 12—The last MUMMY movie in black & white was the Abbott & Costello version, not MUMMY'S CURSE. 13—Lionel Atwill didn't meet Bela Lugosi as Ygor in SON OF FRANKENSTEIN, they met in GHOST OF FRANKENSTEIN. 14—The issue was No. 18 but you said it was No. 2. 15—ZOMBIES ON BROADWAY was made in '43. 16—"Tonight" was misspelled "tonite." 17—No capital letters were used to begin sentences in introduction to Dante's Inferno.

Every time I buy your magazine it's the same old thing: mummies, robots, werewolves, Frankensteins, etc. It gets pretty boring. Why don't you have more of wax museums & weird new things, not old like Count Dracula, Im-ho-tep, etc. I bet you wouldn't even print this.

ACKERMAN & WARREN EXPOSED! (Loser No. 100)

I don't think there's any businessmen as smart as you. Or for that fact, any business as good as yours. I was just trying to figure out what kind of men you are. The impression I get, that you are very intelligent men and that it's a shame that your talents aren't put to better use. Of course that same old reason pops up again: money. I was wondering how many readers do you have that are over 21 and sane? Not many, hah! You fellows better watch yourselfs or you'll end up in the nearest nut house. Or maybe its just a front to try to make it look that you actually like that kind of stuff. I honestly believe that the latter is true. At least I hope so! I imagine its all right for kids to read your magazine, but adults? What do you think???? I am not signing my name because I am nothing to you and my name would be trivial. As a matter. of record, I am now 14 years of age (and not a square).

● At last our guilty secret is out: we are mad geniuses who hate monsters, love money. Our evil scheme: drive everybody in the country into insane asylums! You see, we own 'em all and like to keep 'em full. We would say more but a man just arrived at our door with a cabinet. Be right with you, Dr. Caligari . . .

A POOR DELUDED SOUL

I may be only 12½ but 8 of those years I have been a true fan of the macabre. I think your mags are the greatest in the world! FM was a welcome change in the cheap world of the "underfed Monster Mag" and then you topped yourself with SPACEMEN. A real pure magazine devoted not only to monsters, hideous things and other delights but true science fiction. SM is really a great achievement with sci-fi such a scarce and almost extinct variety of movie or stories. Both of your magazines are of great value because they don't advertise their products with a blonde wearing some flimsy nightgown. You use honesty and excellent reviews, good stories by great artists in this field, and excellent information to achieve your purposes, which are strictly to delight the heart of young and old alike. By the way, that review you gave on INVASION OF THE BODY SNATCHERS was terrific. Altho I have seen this picture 5 times it still brings a chill to me and a feeling of delight whenever I see it. It was almost perfect (as far as a movie goes). It built up a great feeling of horror not by using a hideous (so hideous that it would be ridiculously so) "thing" crawling around a town but a new approach. Realistic and moral horror. This was a picture that really showed an example of that fine but almost extinct form of science fiction movie. And yours was the kind of article that proved this. It didn't just say it was great, it proved that it was great! It's a shame that Producers, Directors, Writers, etc. don't take more care in making a movie these days. Most of the pictures today are so "junky" that it's nauseating! I can reel off a list as long as the Crawling Eye's tentacle! It's downright disgusting! I have not seen more than 20 movies released beyond 1947 that have really completely satisfied me. I can't be the only person who feels this way besides the authorities. I would appreciate it if you would print this so FM's readers understand it isn't only older people that are really serious about their craving for the macabre but we younger kids too.

A MOTHER SPEAKS

Enjoyed very much the back issues I purchased, particularly the issue with the GORGO coverage. My two children (7½ yr old Susan and 4 yr old Ricky) enjoyed that one tremendously. They enjoyed the movie so very much and if I'd let them just know they'd swipe the mag for themselves—but Mom (bloodthirsty fiend that I am) won't give it up! I have never backed down from taking them to horror movies for I've taken the time to do a great deal of explaining on make-up, settings and the like; and they have been told many a time that a horror film is just a fairy tale set to film. An amusing situation arose when at a local theater a woman was complaining to the manager (I imagine) about a horror film when I interrupted (impolitely) and put in my 2c that I permit my children to view horror films and I commented on how much I, and the children, enjoyed GORGO for example. The woman appeared to be horrified when my daughter (no more than 6 at the time) said, "Don't be silly, it was only a man in a costume —don't you know there aren't any such things as monsters?" I feel there are limits to what I'll permit them to view but GORGO, FRANKENSTEIN, DRACULA (the Karloff & Lugosi versions) won't hurt them at all. By the way, did you know the State Dept. picked 2 fantasy films to represent the USA in the Russian Culture Exchange for 1962? And they are 3 WORLDS OF GULLIVER and 7th VOYAGE OF SINBAD.

CHANEY'S CHAMPIONS

Referring to the scathing letter of John H. Allocca, we feel that 2 completely satisfied customers should come to your and Lon Chaney's defense. Allocca states that Chaney is not a great actor. Perhaps he doesn't realize what today in the modern film industry would be called deplorable conditions existed commonly at that time. Chaney had to work under pounds of yellow mortician's wax, sputtering arc lamps, hand-cranked cameras and, most of all, no sound. Now, Mr. Laughton's performance as Quasimodo was excellent but he had the all-important advantage of sound. Without sound the actors' actions had to be exaggerated in order to bring an idea across. In a "talkie" the same idea could be portrayed in a few words. Lan Chaney's parents were both deaf. Because of this he learned the art of pantomime well, a fact evident in all of his 134 pictures. Altho his acting may seem primitive to many people today, in our opinion he was (and still is) one of the finest actors in films. We don't plan to send you our choices for the "50 Worst Pictures" because we agree with 49 of Joe Dante Jr's selections. We have produced our own movies. They include Poe's "Facts in the Case of M. Valdemar" and Oscar Wilde's "Picture of Dorian Gray." We are now starting work on our new space movie. Your magazine has been getting better with every issue. Bloch's articles great. We have fallen prey to your record album, "Music for Robots." We don't dare you to print this.

NO HANTY CLAUS?

No more than you could deny the existence of Santa Clause to a little child could you deny the existence of the Phantom of the Opera to a devout Chaney fan such as I. Lon Chaney lives. The man of a thousand faces lives on in the hearts of a thousand times a thousand people who, like Robert Bloch, "gazed upon the fact of naked fear" when they saw the PHANTOM for the firstime. To our generation he is immortal. Chaney will live after we have all turned to dust. How can any one deny the life of a man who for years brought pure terror to the hearts of thousands—nay, millions of people? Can Leahy merely wave a hand and say, "Chaney, begone!"—or is he merely trying to discredit a man who died in order to entertain people? He can no more do this than to say that Ernest Thesiger or George Zucco are also dead. Let me salute you on the wonderful job you are doing in keeping the memory of "the Phantom of all time" alive.

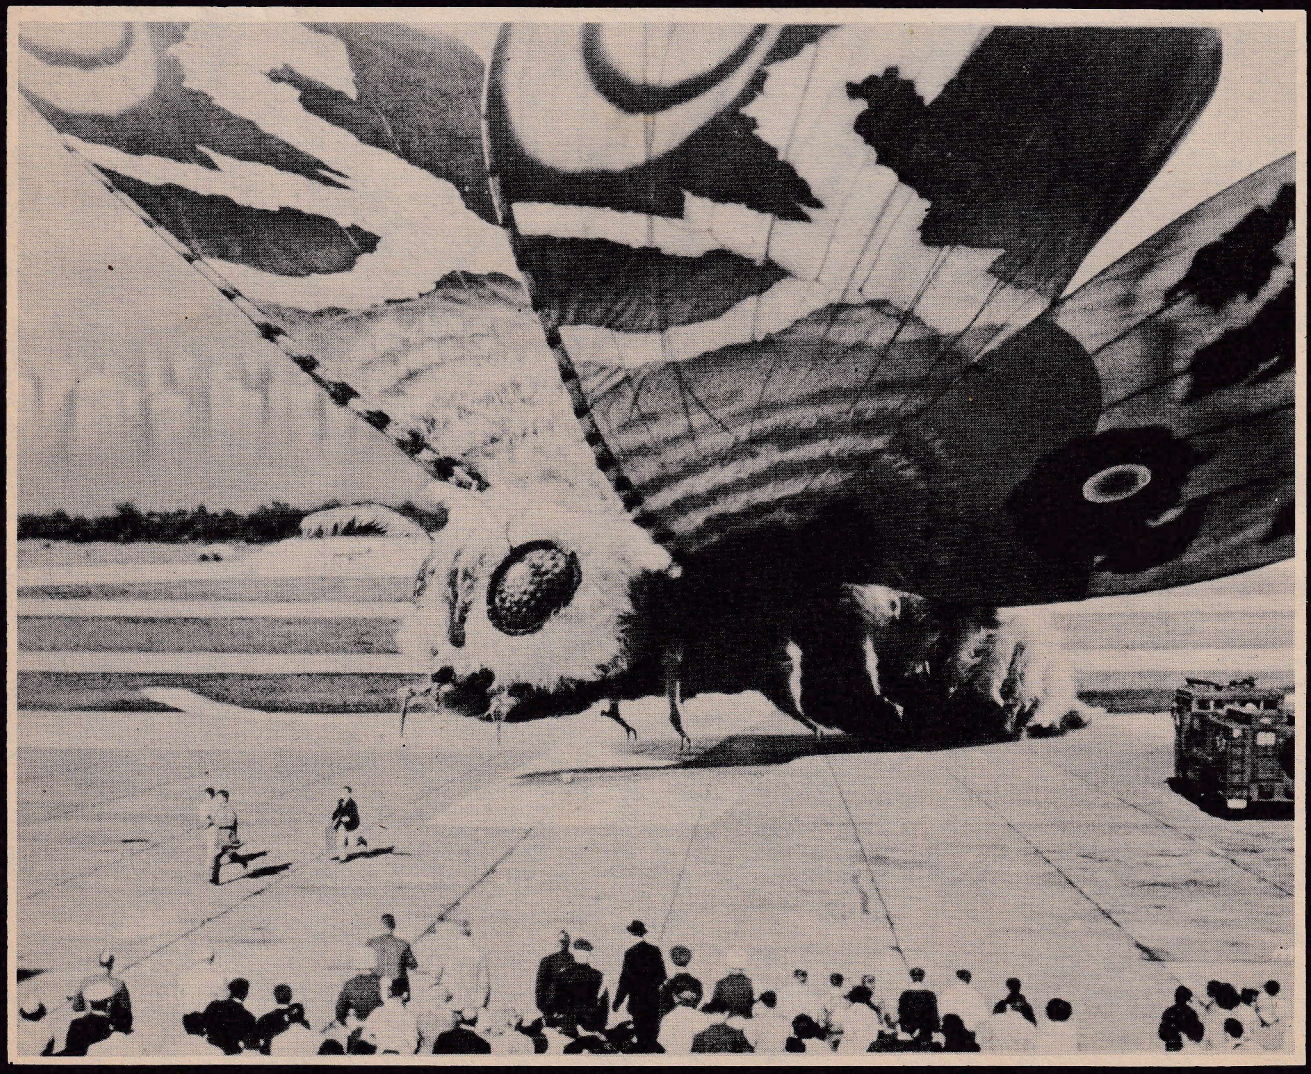
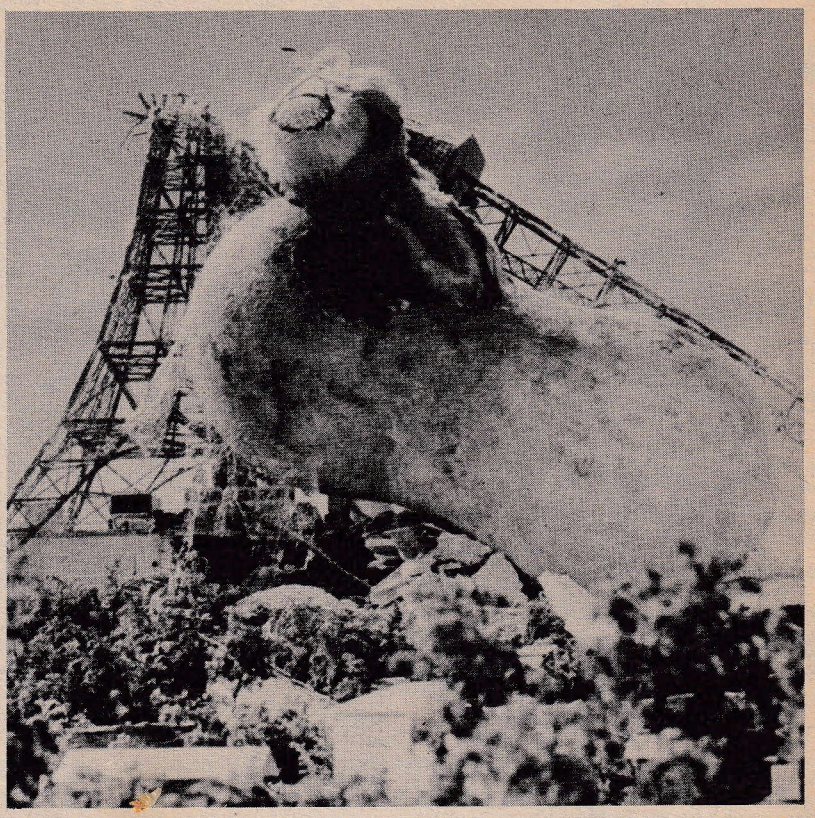
"MOTHRA"





The story of MOTHRA takes place in the near future in a Never Never Land called Rosilica. A joint expedition of Japanese-Rosilican scientists lands on Infant Island, a kind of latterday Bikini Atoll, to discover that it still supports a strange form of dwarfed life despite a heavy reside of radioactivity from H-bomb test blasts. The inhabitants are tiny humans only 2′ tall who worship a veritable winged behemoth. When 2 of the little women, called Aelinas, are kidnapped by unscrupulous promoters and exhibited in nite clubs like sideshow freaks, the Sacred Egg that the girls once guarded hatches an insect larva of incredible proportions which destroys ships as it swims thru the sea in search of land and its lost Aelinas. As the spectacle reaches its climax, MOTHRA undergoes a metamorphosis from slumbering giant in a colossal cocoon to menacing moth of monstrous size. Tokyo & Rosilica tremble to the beat of its tornadic wings as the enraged creature follows the telepathic cries for help from its helpless handmaidens. The airborne monstrosity destroys all in its path—bridges, skyscrapers, dams, defying all military weapons including an atomic heat-cannon, till it rescues the Aelinas and returns with them to their Infant Island . . .

PLE is, I believe, the at-long-last released horror film made in Lapland and mentioned in some of the earliest issues of FM as TERROR IN THE MIDNIGHT SUN. Starring John Carradine, it's blurbed as "Giants of the Ages . . . running Amuck in Icy Death Attack controlled by Alien Brains." Usually co-featured with the foregoing will be Robert (Hideous Sun Demon) Clarke in TERROR OF THE BLOOD-HUNTERS.

INVASION OF THE STAR CREATURES may be the American version of the Japanese spectacle previously reported in these pages as MYSTERIOUS SATELLITE. At any rate, we'll soon enuf know as this one is about ready to go into general release.

our planet in grave peril

"Two Hours to Doom," "After the Rains," "The Tides Ran Out," "Earth Abides," "The Torch" and "Darkness & Dawn"—these are some of the exciting novels dealing in one way and another with natural and man-made catastrophies that threaten the extinction of the human race. In THE DEVIL'S MESSENGER, soon to be released, Lon Chaney Jr. as Satan himself makes a present (to a man who'll use it) of the mightiest megaton bomb imaginable, after earlier in the picture making 3 other evil gifts in episodes involving a camera that kills, a girl who unthaws after 50,000 years frozen in a block of ice, and a crystal ball that clairvoyantly reveals a man's own death.

THE LAST WAR, THE END OF THE WORLD and (a note of hope) SURVIVAL are all scheduled for the screen before the world's (oops, year's) end.

If there is one glowing golden breath-taking mouth-watering reason to hope this dopey world holds together another season before losing its head completely and blowing its top, it's—stop press!—the midnite message from Bert I. Gordon that he is seriously interested in remaking one of the most remarkable, outstanding, enduring, fascinating, fabulous science and fantasy masterpieces this mad, mad, mad, mad world has ever known. If THE LOST WORLD and THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA and THE CABINET OF DR. CALIGARI and THE GOLEM and SIEGFRIED and Fairbanks' THIEF OF BAGDAD are remembered as sparkling gems of imagination displayed on the silver screen before films learned to speak, the peak of technical achievement, imaginative power, visual wonder, unbridled drama, beauty and beastliness, macabre touches and marvels and miracles—all this was achieved by Fritz Lang and wrapped up in the one word of enchantment that spells the 8th Wonder of the Silent Era of Films, the blinding, spell-binding Crown Jewel of Fantastic Classics—

METROPOLIS!

And now, with all due respect for its awe-inspiring reputation; with the earnest desire to do justice to a new version, one that will live in the motion picture theaters of the world and on the television sets of multi-millions as the silent version has survived across a span of 4 decades in the memories of those who were staggered by it nearly 40 years ago; Bert Gordon has taken the initial giant step, set his daring feet on the challenging stairway to screen immortality climbed by Lang, DeMille, Pal . . . I have been told that Lang himself does not wish to tackle the task of recreating his masterpiece in modern times, thus the torch (which must not be allowed to go out) is available to be passed to the hands of He Who Will Dare to accept the responsibility.

Bert Gordon has reached out.

As I sit at my typewriter, recording this announcement at half-past midnite, I am as wide awake as though it were the blaze of high noon.

I wonder if I will sleep again, until I have beheld The New METROPOLIS?

And then, probably not for weeks.

You'll join me, of course!

Special Preview! American-International Pictures presents Edgar Allan, the Master of the Macabre, in an eerie interpretation of a trio of the great writer's works.

Heedless of consequences, Vincent Price horrifies Black Cat heroine with bodiless head of Peter Lorre

Vincent gloats over his most Priceless possession. (So it's a Poe joke . . . just sort of Petered out.)

Mad Maiden from the Morella sequence, seeking a fella to give her a manicure—or is it a maniacure?!

Poe at his Peak

Montresor the monstrous!

Morella the moribund (bound for death)!

And—Valdemar the living corpse, the unnatural, the undead.

Three names to conjure with.

And the players in these three games of death?

Price!

Rathbone!

Lorre!

Who could ask for anything more?

And yet—we get more: four stories combined into three!

the cat and the cask

THE BLACK CAT episode has been skillfully blended with "The Cask of Amontillado" to give double thrills as Montresor, "a swollen pixie of a man" (how apt a description of the ever ept Peter Lorre), plots his "perfect crime" of revenge and murder (most foul) against the unfortunate Fortunato, Vincent Price.

Insanely, Lorre entombs his own wife and her lover (Price) alive behind his cellar wall. In his fever of dementia he does not observe that a third party—Pluto—is also entrapped.

It is the mewling of his despised feline that is the final undoing of the lunatic Lorre as his crime is betrayed by—THE BLACK CAT. Revenge on Rathbone.

In THE FACTS IN THE CASE OF M. VALDEMAR, Basil Rathbone portrays a master of mesmerism—once regarded as an occult art—who uses his mysterious new 19th century power first to do medical good and ease the pain of sick man Valdemar (Vincent Price) . . . later in an evil fashion to enthral the life-force of the helpless Valdemar.

Valdemar's wife is faithful to her dying husband but has secretly fallen in love with the young doctor attending him. It is evident that when she becomes a widow she will openly express her affection for Dr. James. But Carmichael covets Helene (Debra Paget) and plots to possess her.

Can mesmerism forestall death? Carmichael persuades Valdemar to participate in an unprecedented experiment during the final hour of his life, to let Carmichael place him in a hypnotic trance and determine if the power of suggestion can ward off the Grim Reaper.

the horizontal zombie

Carmichael casts his spell.

Valdemar does not die.

And yet—he does not fully live. Like a man in a state of catalepsy he lies on his "death" bed, his animation suspended.

Months pass with Valdemar completely immobilized, a prisoner in his own body, horror in his glazed eyes. At last, in unbearable agony, Valdemar begins to speak from the nether world!

Carmichael's wicked plan now becomes apparent: he wishes to force Helene to give up Dr. James and marry him instead. At last, to end her husband's unholy suffering and permit him the peace of true death, the distraught Helene agrees to the unhappy bargain of becoming Carmichael's bride.

Shocked by the enormity of Carmichael's crime, Valdemar is imbued with superhuman energy and rises from his deathbed, a living corpse, a thing that should have long since rotted in the grave.

Like a sentient shroud, Valdemar envelops the horror-struck Carmichael. What human heart could endure the embrace of a half-dead body? Carmichael suffers a cardiac attack, literally dies of fright.

And then, an abnormal, a hideous thing happens. With the death of Carmichael, the monstrous mesmeric spell is broken. In the words of the author:

"Amid ejaculations of 'dead! dead!" absolutely bursting from the tongue and not the lips of the sufferer, his whole frame at once—within the space of a single minute, or less, shrunk—crumbled—absolutely rotted away . . . became a nearly liquid mass of loathsome, of detestable putrescence."

In the finale of this portion of the film, this ooze-of-death which was once M. Valdemar overwhelms, the body of the late mesmerist Carmichael. . . .

Morella the mummy

Rage and terror are plain to be seen on the wrinkled, parchmented face of mummified Morella twenty-six years after her violent death. Her own daughter, Lenora, sees this combination of fear and fury on her quarter-century dead mother's face when she returns home to visit her father and discovers the preserved corpse of her mother still lying on the very bed in which she died.

Disturbed by the presence of her daughter, Morella's earthbound spirit rises during the night and possesses Lenora. Lenora's screams bring her panicked father (Vincent Price) to her bedside, where he discovers his daughter apparently dead of some terrible pain, some ghastly shock.

As Price grieves over his daughter, her dead body gruesomely takes on the simulucrum of life: it twitches unaccountably, mysterious and awful sounds emanate from its lifeless throat.

More thrills are in store in the story of Morella, which you simply must see for yourself.

POE'S TALES OF TERROR is in Panavision and Color and gives every promise of being another hit equal to HOUSE OF USHER and THE PREMATURE BURIAL.

Don't miss it! END

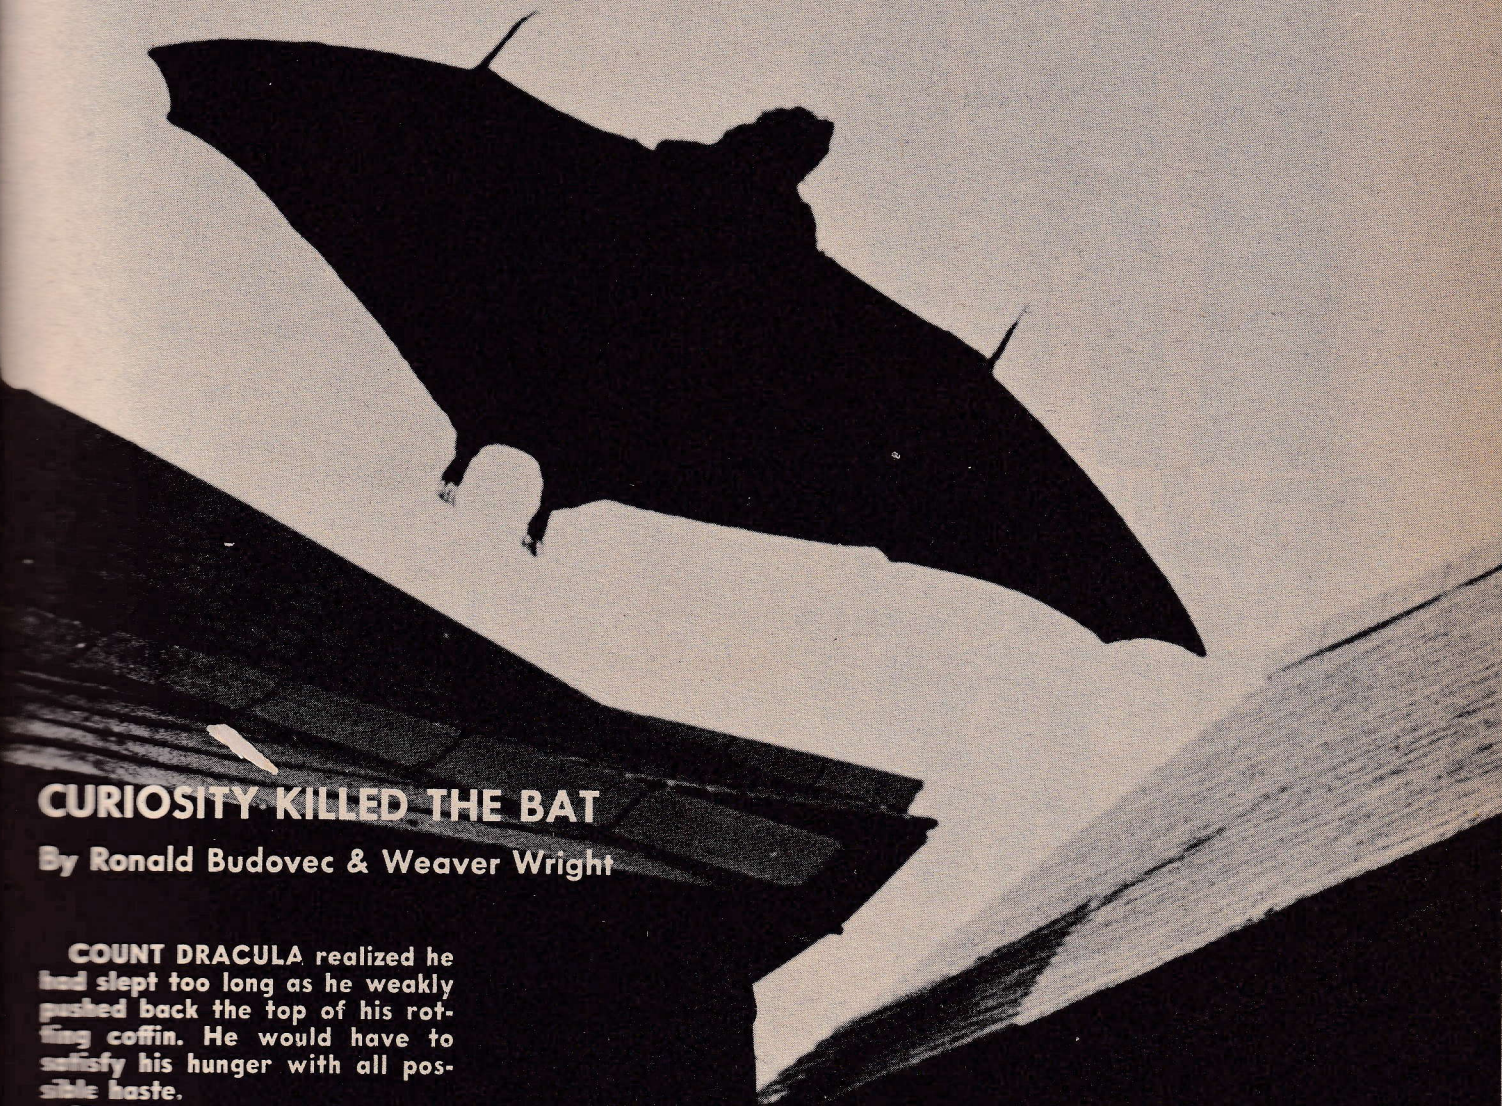
The decaying corpse of M. Valdemar wreaks ghastly vengeance on the mesmerist who turned him into a dead-alive monstrosity.

Peter Lorre's eyes pop as never before at the ill omen of the black cat that confronts him, contorting his features with fear.

LON CHANEY SHALL NOT DIE!

Trick photograph from THE UNKOWN, 1927 MGM production. LON CHANEY listens to evil suggestions whispered into his ear by Tom Thumb-size Devil. In the picture, Lon "accidentally" arranged to have his own arms removed. Afterwards he practiced and became so astonishingly accurate at throwing knives with his feet that he was hailed as the star attraction of a circus sideshow. But when a rival for the hand of Lon's girl arrived on the scene, Lon revealed that he was anything but 'armless!

"THESE WERE THEIR LIVES"



CURIOSITY KILLED THE BAT

By Ronald Budovec & Weaver Wright

COUNT DRACULA realized he had slept too long as he weakly pushed back the top of his rotting coffin. He would have to satisfy his hunger with all possible haste.

The almost forgotten potion he had drunk had allowed him to pass an entire century in sleep but it had nearly caused his death too by draining him of energy. He would never make the mistake again of trying to see the future via suspended animation.

He wondered what things had changed during his long sleep. Time would soon tell.

Dracula assumed his familiar nocturnal form. The sonar hearing system of his bat-body informed him that a building was nearby and he noiselessly flew toward it on leathery wings. He was exhausted as he flapped thru an open bedroom window into the dark mansion.

The infamous vampire re-assumed his human shape. His pale eyes shone in the blackness as they discerned a young female form in bed asleep. Dracula's hundred year hunger silently screamed to be fed. Feverishly he glided to the girl's side. Fangs bared, he bent to quench his unslaked, unholy thirst.

At that moment a pale beam from the moon fell on the sleeping figure's throat and something metallic glinted there. Curious, Dracula leaned closer, read—a word, followed by a number. A horrible despair gripped his brain and body. He sank to the floor with a moan of dread and a tremor of exhaustion.

With the coming of dawn the diabolic Transylvanian, undead for centuries, expired with an ironic inscription etched in his brain. Too weak to seek blood elsewhere, he realized too late this supine form could offer him none of life's rich red necessity. For the damning information stamped on the metallic tag of the "sleeping" maidservant declared her to be a flesh-covered automaton.

THE PRE-HISTORIC STORY

Forry Ackerman finds THE LOST WORLD

Between the time I, your editor, was 6 & 9 years old, I must have seen the original silent LOST WORLD a total of 8 or 9 times. It may have been silent but it certainly talked my language. I went, I saw and I was conquered by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's dinosaurs. You would have thought Sir Arthur invented dinosaurs just for me.

Fortunately, in 1925, First National Studios (now Warner Bros.) decided to bring dinosaurs to the screen. As you have seen, by consulting the Checklist, THE LOST WORLD was not the first of all films featuring prehistoric creatures but it was the landmark & yardstick for all future comparisons. Willis O'Brien, who 8 years later was to create his masterpiece, KING Caesar Romero aims at the white of Brontosaurus' eye in LOST CONTINENT.

KONG, worked on the special effects together with a man who died just last year, Fred Jackman, a cinemagician whose 2 young sons lived on the same block I did at the time (as preteens we once constructed a Tarzan-type tree hut together).

the brontosauros that breathed

I can still remember, across a span of nearly 40 years, how out in front of the downtown theater that was featuring THE LOST WORLD, they had, to the left of the box-office, a model brontosaurus about 2' long. I suppose it was fashioned out of rubber, and hollow, for by some invisible device its stomach was caused to move in & out as tho breathing. To my eternal credit (and even tho I wasn't a Boy Scout) I didn't swipe that brontosaurus. I sure would have liked him for a pet.

From the time the Missing Link appeared, in the original picture, I held my breath. When they threw the flaming brand into the mouth of the angry Allosaurus, I was on the edge of my seat. I was thrilled by the Triceratops, staggered by the Stegosaurus. I had never imagined a bird could be as big as a Pterodactyl.

If all you have ever seen is THE LOST WORLD of 1960, I pity you. Possibly you liked it. It had color, it had sound—it had lizards! Gila monsters, armadillos, newts, salamanders, chameleons—to my mind they will never be more than the lazy man's dinosaurs. The best, most convincing use of them, I thot, was in JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH but for prehistoric thrills I'll take the poorest stop-motion model any day over the liveliest living lizards faked up & blown up to look dino-size.

I also hate men dully groping around in dinosaur suits (see—or, rather, don't see—UNKOWN ISLAND).

The remake of THE LOST WORLD was one of the world's greatest disappointments to me because The End flashed on the screen just when the original version started moving toward its climax. Let me explain it to you like this: could you imagine KING KONG quitting right after they'd overcome him with gas on Skull Island and were about to transport him back to civilization?

Flippersaurus attacked by Helicopter in Unique Scene from THE LAND UNKNOWN.

Raft & Occupants in Danger of Capsizing as Menacing Flippersaurus rears its Horrible Head from the Lake of Peril in THE LAND UNKNOWN. (copyright Universal Pictures Co. Inc.)

At first I forgave them, when I heard they were going to make a sequel to the new LOST WORLD, and that Prof. Challenger (Claude Rains) would have his hands full when his dinosaur egg hatched in a modern metropolis; but 2 years later I have seen no sign of the followup film and am feeling dismally cheated.

the long LOST WORLD

In the earlier, lengthier, strengthier version of THE LOST WORLD a cage crashed at the docks, it broke loose to lumber thru the pedestrian-panicked streets of the world's greatest city.

I'll never forget the bewildered bronto nibbling at the lamppost, getting its nose burned & shocked. The great behemoth inserting its elongated neck, serpent-like, thru a second storey window, scaring the occupants of the apartment out of their wits. The heroic man running up and shooting a bullet into the hoof of the monster descending on the helpless mother & child in the street. The immense weight of the ponderous beast bursting London Bridge!

Can you penetrate dis guy's disguise?

He once starred in a film called THE SEA BEAST.

Was seen in Curt Siodmak's THE INVISIBLE WOMAN.

Had a brother who appeared in a remake of Lon Chaney's LONDON AFTER MIDNIGHT.

Has a son who's making movies.

In the motion picture from which this pose of him as a Handsome Horror was taken, he played a demon sleuth. The initials of the film (a Paramount production) were BDCB.

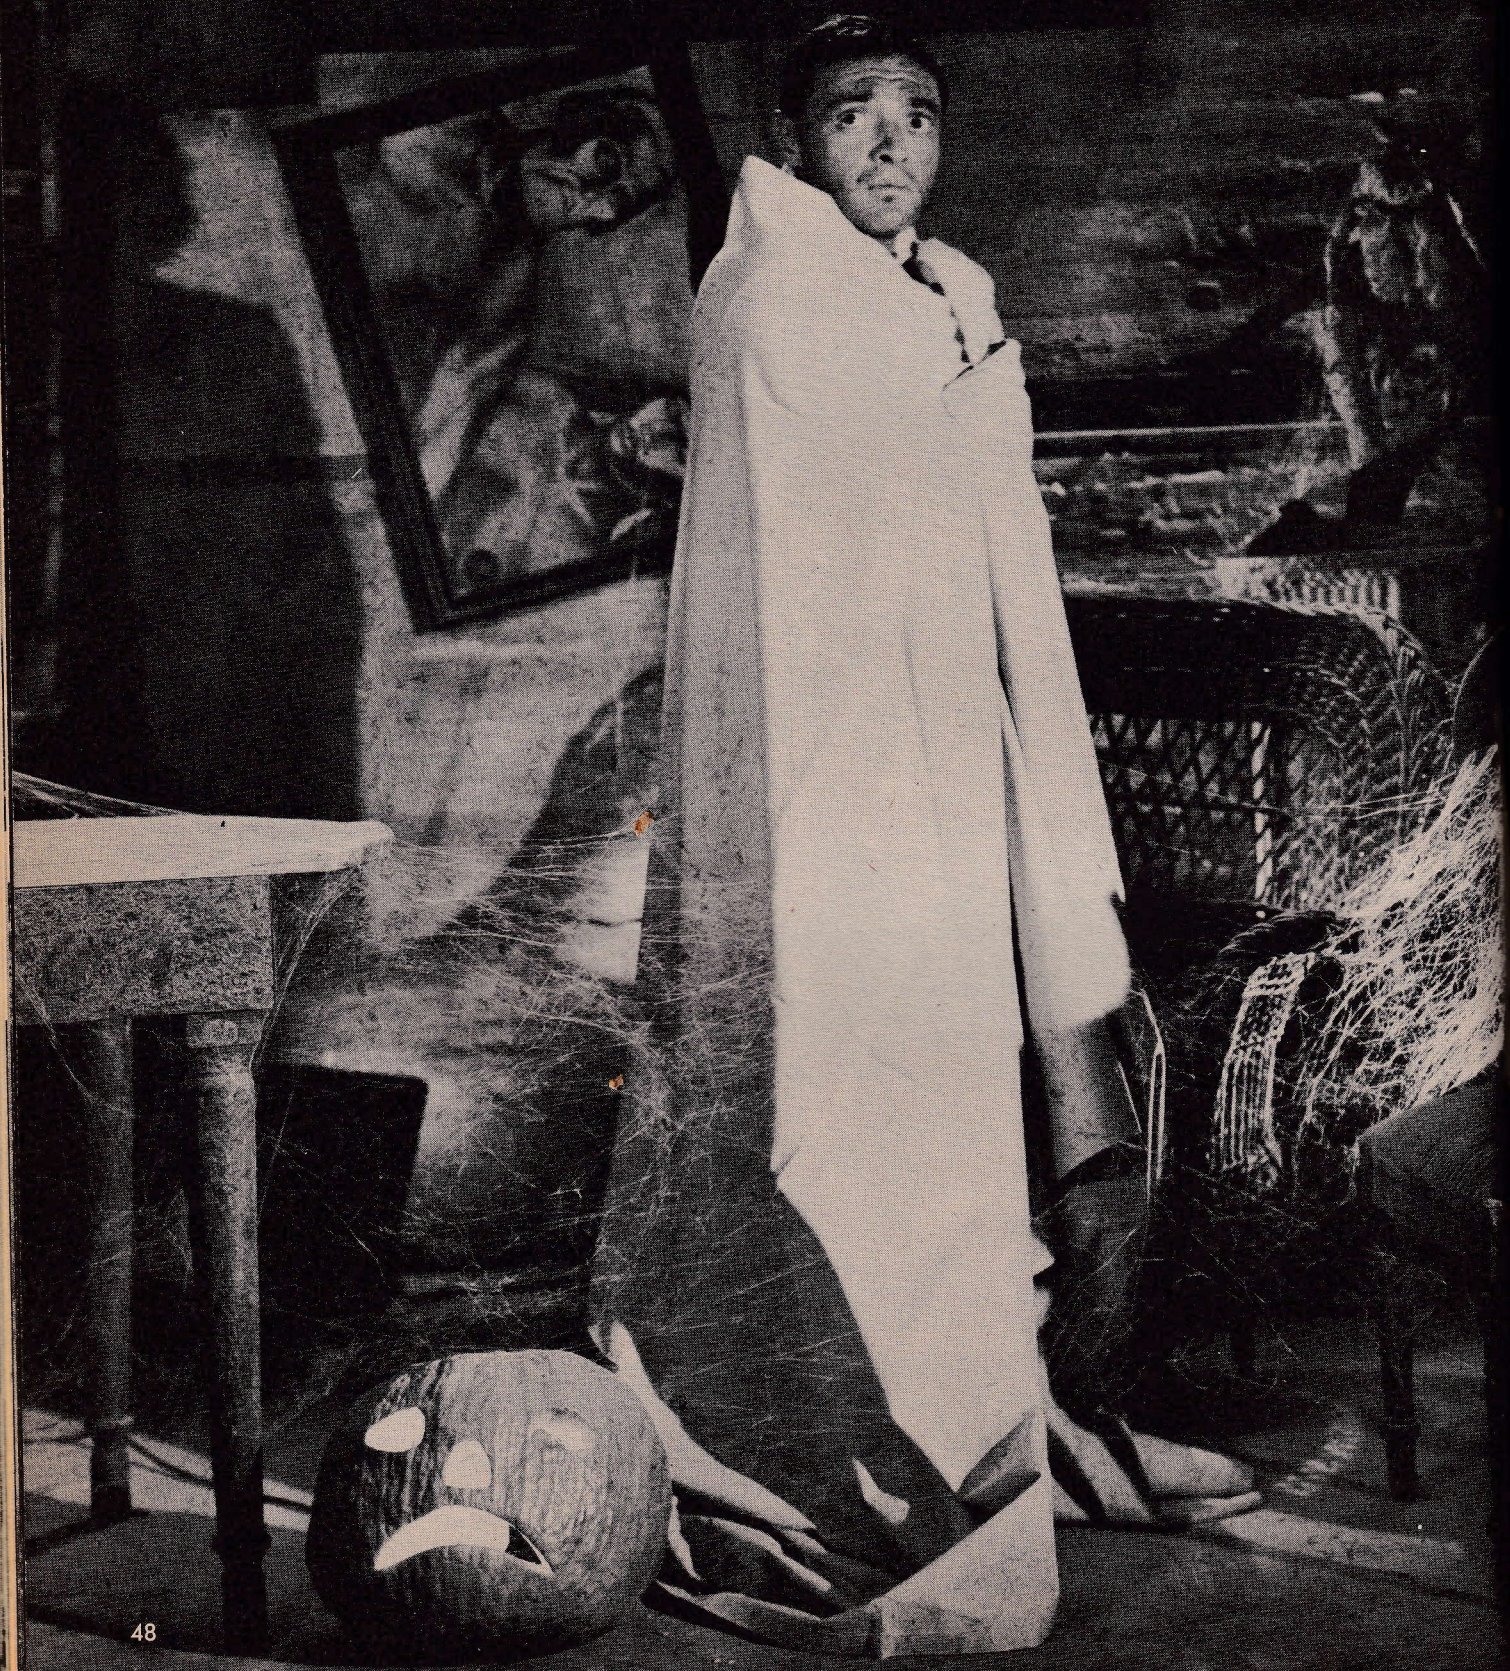
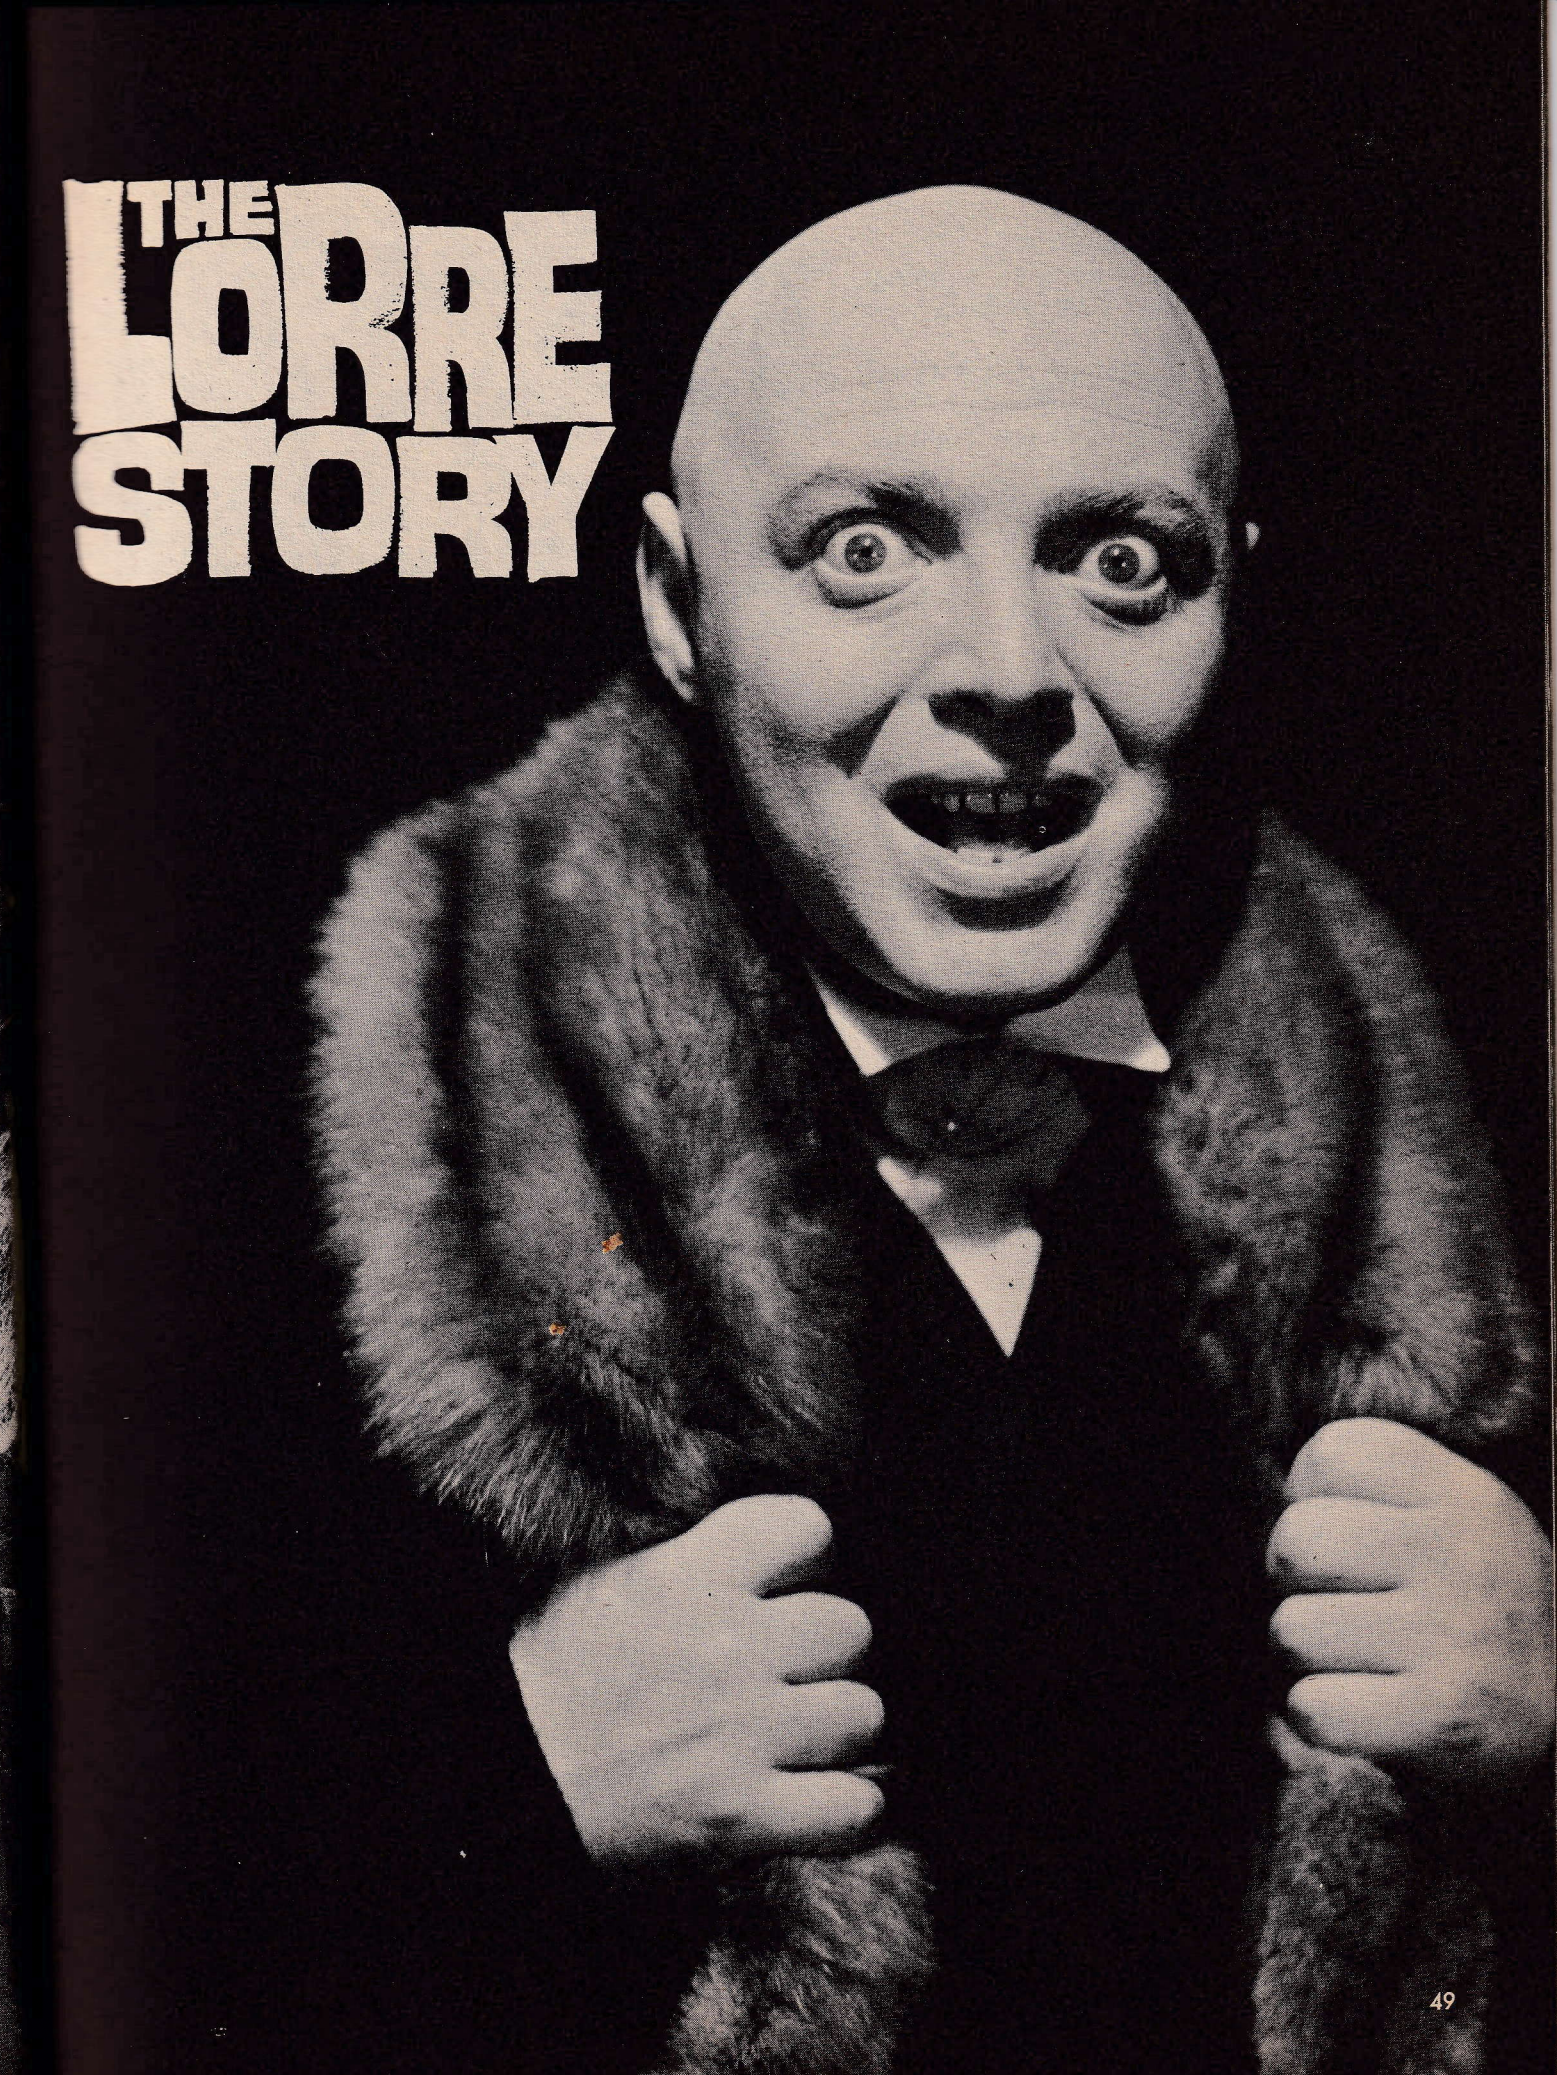
"The Lord High Minister of All That is Sinister"



THE LORRE STORY



IF William Shockspeare had written THE MERCHANT OF MENACE, the automatic casting for the starring role would have been:

Peter Lorre.

Lorre . . . of the popping eyes.

Lorre . . . of the wheezing, whining, whimpering, gelatinous lips, so pulpy, so pallid, so—petrifying.

Lorre . . . the mushroom that evolved into a man, the Lord of the Toads.

This is the image, the shadow creature who evokes shudders & shrieks.

What of the human being, the psyche behind the mask, the core of Lorre?

Inside Peter the Great

"The most fascinating man I ever met," actress Madeleine Carroll once said of Lorre. A statement which interviewer Harry Land interpreted to mean "fascinating in the sense that a snake is fascinating. Yet somehow lovable. There is, underneath all that oddness and the strangeness and the horror of him, a naive childishness of a little boy who wants desperately to have you like him. And so because you feel he wants you to like him, you find yourself liking him—despite everything else."

This sheep in fiend's clothing was born on 26 June 1904 in the Carpathians, in Hungary, making him a fellow countryman of Bela Lugosi. He schooled in Vienna. His first job was a bank clerk!

He was brought (forceably—classically) to the attention of the motion picture world by Fritz (METROPOLIS) Lang in the masterpiece of a macabre murderer, M.

By 1945, "movie-murderer Lorre had knifed, gunned, strangled & poisoned his way in & out of half a hundred movies," reported journalist Michael Sheridan, who continued: "Not a day passes, it seems, but there is someone ready to suspect 'Gory' Lorre of lethal tendencies off the screen and it has begun to get a little embarrassing. 'They won't go as far to say I have murder in my heart,' he will tell you, 'but they are quite sure I have murder on my mind.' Once, when he was fulfilling an errand for a friend who had bought a new house, a woman recognized him and whispered agitatedly to the pharmacist, 'Isn't that Peter Lorre?' The druggist nodded, 'Yes, he's buying 4 pounds of ant paste.' The woman advised: 'I wouldn't sell it to him—I've seen some of his pictures.' "

"We'll shoot the first one who mis-captions this still as a scene from THE BOOGIE MEN WILL GET YOU!" swear Lugosi, Karloff & Lorre. "Make that mistake and YOU'LL FIND OUT!"

Drab Arab in SAD SACK.

Mad killer of CRIME & PUNISHMENT.

his kontribution to vokabulary

According to Michael Sheridan, Peter Lorre is credited with having created the word "creep"—an expression he coined around 1944 to replace "jerk", a term he considered had outlived its usefulness. He originally spelled his new word "kreep".

Master pantomimist Charles Chaplin remarked of him in 1935: "He is the greatest living actor."

In the early years of his career, after he rocked 2 continents with his paralyzing portrayal of the pathological murderer of Dusseldorf and "a maniac with the soul of a ghoul and the mind of a genius" in MAD LOVE, it was reported that he drew a very serious fanmail. Aware that he had studied under Freud & Adler, psychology students probed him: how did he feel when he threw filmic tantrums? Did he think of awful things like enacting awful deeds? Did his movie crimes affect his nervous system? Was he able to eat, sleep & enjoy the normal pleasures of life? And so on. A Harvard professor wrote to say that he had been selected "the most interesting mind subject of the year".

Luft on Lorre

Cinema historian Herbert G. Luft, writing in the estimable FILMS IN REVIEW, tells us that Lorre was the oldest of 4 children, having 3 younger brothers, one of whom was killed during World War II, the others at last report living in New Jersey and Australia, respectively.

He played a villainous mastermind in the German version of Curt Siodmak's FLOATING PLATFORM #1 DOES NOT REPLY and co-starred in an expressionistic picture (again in German) called THE 13 TRUNKS OF MR. O.F.

He co-starred, Luft tells us, in another German film known in English as INVISIBLE OPPONENT, this time with Oscar Homolka, most recently seen in the horror film MR. SARDONICUS.

The man who gave Lang the idea for M gave Lorre one for a thriller which he wrote, produced, directed & starred in: THE LOST ONE. In it he portrayed a scientist of the Hitler era who became a homicidal maniac. It was during the making of this picture that Lorre became seriously ill, gaining almost 100 pounds.

Mad Doctor of MAD LOVE.

Previously married to actresses Cecilia Lvovsky & Kaaren Verne, he married Anna Marie Brenning in 1952 and their daughter Catherine was born the following year.

"He began his film career as a psychopath and may end it as a clown"—Luft.

Lang on Lorre

Journalist Harry Lang once called Lorre "Lon Chaney's successor", stating: "The little 5'3" Hungarian can be anything at all on the screen. He goes even the legendary Chaney one better—where Chaney only put on his characters outside, Lorre puts 'em on, inside!" Well, FM's editor doesn't quite agree with that statement, but anyway we're reporting what the man said. "That's why he convinces you he's a Japanese in the MR. MOTO series; a curly-haired Mexican bandit in SECRET AGENT; that's why he made your skin creep and your innards turn flip-flops as the Russian killer Roskolnikov in CRIME & PUNISHMENT.

"Amazing versatility? Yes—but more. His secret: he never stops acting. When he's in production he acts the character he's playing 24 hours a day. When he's between pictures he's even acting Peter Lorre.

"And so—watch him as he puts on his greasepaint and his effects and his props, there in his dressing room. And you see a Jekyll-Hydish thing. You see not only the outer man changing but the inner man as well. Bit by bit, as the minutes go by, Lorre vanishes and the character appears.

"Personally, the man is strange to know. People who meet him often shudder, often say they feel uncomfortable in his presence. Unprepossessing at his best—tiny, pudgy, pop-eyed, with a face like something behind an aquarium glass—he has a manner that disconcerts folks. Yet they find him not only interest-challenging but lovable."

On the other hand, Luft reported: "I suppose it is needless to say that Lorre in private life is not like the Lorre who has so often been on the screen. He is an intelligent & sensitive man . . . with a talent for amusing people."

Lorre on Lorre

"An actor, to be good, must be a psychologist. He must outstrip the professional psychologists, who concern themselves only with a few phases of a subject's mind. An actor must be a hundred percent psychologist—for he takes his character apart & reconstructs all his emotions. Then he takes those emotions into himself, becomes that character, be the character mad or not. The actor must be the character, utterly."

Forry on Lorre

I like you, Mr. Lorre. I would like to meet you sometime and give about a half a million fans of yours (buyers & borrowers of this magazine) my own impression of you. I salute you for 30 years of screen thrills and wish you the best in reel life & real.

FAMOUS MONSTERS PRESENTS AN EXCLUSIVE LOOK AT A HOME-MADE HORROR FILM THAT MAY GIVE HOLLYWOOD SOME FRIGHTENING COMPETITION

MONSTER IN THE BASEMENT

THE MONSTER IN THE BASEMENT is the title of an amateur home-movie that was recently written, produced and directed by Robert Kraus. Mr. Kraus is the famous New Yorker Magazine cartoonist and (he confesses) "constant reader of FAMOUS MONSTERS Magazine." Bob had always been a horror movie fan, and was anxious to try his creative hand at writing and directing a production of his own. The film itself was made with the help of two friends—who served as cameramen—plus a total budget of $90. The production was shot with 16mm black & white film and runs 8 minutes. Many unusual effects were obtained by splicing odd bits of film together. There are no titles and no dialogue. The only sound is eerie music. Ordinary monster masks and an old wig were used—and tricky lighting made this make-up quite effective. A total of 900 ft. of film was exposed to shoot the movie, which was shot in 12 hours (mostly in the basement). The editing took 2 weeks.

Right now Bob is looking to release his miniature monster movie to theaters throughout the country, and if it proves successful we might start a whole new trend in film-making thru young monster-fans.

BY ERIC HOFFMAN
THE ANSWER MAN

Each issue Eric Hoffman will answer a number of questions submitted by puzzled readers. Watch for YOUR information HERE.

David Reader: Oscar Homolka played the part of MR. SARDONICUS' disfigured servant Crom.

Eric Sherman: Lionel Atwill played the original DR. X, while Preston Foster was Dr. Wells, the madman who has been confused with the title role in the 1932 movie. Humphrey Bogart was the title character who was revived from the dead in THE RETURN OF DR. X, made in 1939.

Harry Hagner Jr.: The Gill-Man was portrayed by the following people: (1) Ben Chapman in THE CREATURE FROM THE BLACK LAGOON, (2) Ricou Browning in REVENGE OF THE CREATURE, and (3) again Ricou Browning and also Don Megowan in THE CREATURE WALKS AMONG US.

Charles Hyam: THE FLYING SERPENT was made in 1946 by PRC Pictures and starred the late George Zucco.

Frank Sherfy: Lon Chaney died on 26 August 1930. He was 39 when he played THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA in 1925.

Ray Mooney: NOT OF THIS EARTH was about a man from another planet whose people lived on blood like vampires. He came to Earth to pave the way for invasion but was defeated in the end.

The other film you asked about was THE BEAST FROM 20,000 FATHOMS.

Diane Tuminello: "Igor" appeared in SON OF FRANKENSTEIN and GHOST OF FRANKENSTEIN. He was portrayed by Bela Lugosi in both films.

Yes, there was a picture called THE BODY SNATCHERS, made in 1944.

The shade of Edgar Allan Poe has recently been seen in New York! Haunting the Metropolitan areas is a One Man Poe Show in the person of young FM fan Jay Sheridan (seen above) whose remarkable resemblance to the great creator of creepy stories is a dramatic asset as he impersonates the long dead Master of the Macabre for high school & college audiences. Jay tells GE: "In my presentation I have tried to include most of the major highlights from the author's weirdly beautiful life." We salute this enterprising young horror fan for his ingenious idea.

THIS PLANT ACTUALLY EATS INSECTS AND BITS OF MEAT!

NOW YOU CAN OWN THIS FAMOUS, BEAUTIFUL, RARE

VENUS FLY TRAP

only $1.00 THE WORLD'S MOST UNUSUAL HOUSE PLANT!

DISCOVERED BY ARTHUR DOBBS, COLONIAL GOVERNOR AND NATURALIST

On Jan. 24, 1760, Governor Dobbs wrote, ". . . the greatest wonder of the vegetable kingdom is a very curious, unknown species . . . Upon anything touching the leaves they instantly close like a spring trap . . . It bears a white flower; to this surprising plant I have given the name Fly Trap."

ADMIRED BY CHARLES DARWIN, WORLD FAMOUS BOTANIST AND EXPLORER

In 1875 Professor Darwin wrote, "This plant, commonly called 'Venus Fly Trap,' from the rapidity and force of its movements, is one of the most wonderful in the world . . . It is surprising how a slightly damp bit of meat . . . will produce these . . . effects. It seems hardly possible, and yet it is certainly a fact."

A BEAUTIFUL PLANT! The VENUS FLY TRAP is unusually beautiful! It bears lovely white flowers on 12" stems. Its dark green leaves are tipped with lovely pink traps—colorful and unusual!

EATS FLIES AND INSECTS! Each pink trap contains a bit of nectar. It is this color and sweetness which attracts the unsuspecting insect. Once he enters the trap, it snaps shut. Digestive juices then dissolve him. When the insect has been completely absorbed, the trap reopens and prettily awaits another insect!

FEED IT RAW BEEF! If there are no insects in your house, you can feed the traps tiny slivers of raw beef. The plant will thrive on such food. When there is no food for the traps, the plant will feed normally through its root system.

EASY TO GROW! The VENUS FLY TRAP bulbs grow especially well in the home. They thrive in glass containers and develop traps in 3 to 4 weeks. They will beautify any room in your house. Each order includes 3 FLY TRAPS plus SPECIAL GROWING MATERIAL packed in a plastic bag. Only $1.00. No Canadian Orders—U.S. Only Unwary insect touches sensitive hairs, causing trap to shut. Plant then dissolves & digests insect. Trap will bite at (but will NOT bite off) more than it can chew—such as a finger or a pencil. In a few days, after eating an insect, it will reopen for more food.

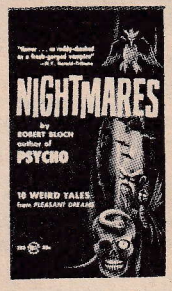
NIGHTMARES



Weird tales by Robert Bloch are unique in the literature of terror. Millions of readers have been fascinated by his macabre masterpieces in magazines, books, motion pictures, radio and television. He has won the "Hugo" trophy for the year's best short story, the Edgar Allan Poe Special Award of the Mystery Writers of America.

MORE MACABRE

They are the kind that will seek out that special little point of fright hidden in your soul—and prod it out, shrieking, into the night.

GREATEST ADVENTURE

When a sea captain brought a baby dinosaur to the home of a wealthy, brilliant scientist, it triggered off an expedition that well deserves the title of THE GREATEST ADVENTURE. For the trail of that little creature led straight into the unexplored, quake-shaken Antarctic to a lost world overrun with monsters!

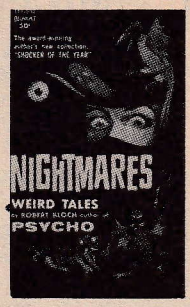
MORE NIGHTMARES



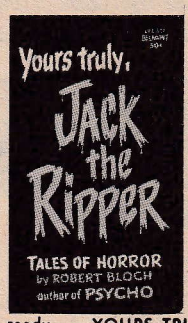
"FEAR exists. It lurks in the shadows of a lonely night; in the untenanted house and the tenanted tomb; it is at home in all the dark places, including those of the human mind and there are times when we must admit its pressing presence, acknowledge its existence in order to make our own more bearable. It forms the basis of all my work . . . FEAR" — Robert Bloch.

eerie tales to titil and terrify you . . .

THE SHRINKING MAN

The man's name was Scott Carey. Eighteen months earlier, he had begun to shrink, and no doctor in the world could stop it. He was seven inches tall the week the door swung shut, and the cellar of his house became a vast prison. He was six inches tall the day the Black Widow spider swung down from the shadows and came scrabbling across the concrete at him on giant, spiny legs . . .

YOURS TRULY, JACK the RIPPER



It was a weird theory. The criminologist and the psychiatrist had proven that the Ripper, who had once preyed on London's women, was roaming Chicago . . . waiting to make another "sacrificial murder" as his stars moved into the kill pattern.
